Pettisville School
Pettisville, Ohio— Volume Twenty-seven

The teachers, administrators, and school board were kept busy this year with more students in school than ever before. As a result, the largest faculty in the history of Pettisville school taught this year. Supt. D. E. Springer had a private office. Mrs. Miriam Ray, school secretary, had charge of the larger general office. The school board decided school policy in a new board and faculty room.

The elementary department, in a new building, was a completely separate unit this year. Every grade but one was divided, so there were two teachers and two rooms for every grade except the third. Several new teachers were added to the staff. With more room and fewer pupils, teachers could spend more time with the individual children. This made the school year enjoyable for both pupils and teachers.

The high school spread out this year to occupy the entire old building. Several rooms were remodeled for use as high school rooms. The home economics department was redone, and now consists of two rooms, kitchen and sewing room. The seventh and eighth grades had home rooms downstairs. They had block periods in these rooms. These were taught by Mrs. Thelma Rychener and Prin. Mark Ray, respectively.

Special activities made the school year fun and meaningful for many of the high school students. Student council put into practice many student suggestions this year. FFA, FHA, and FTA were of interest to many. The publications department was a beehive of valuable activity. A new Board of Publications was organized, to take over this department next year. Other workers made the school an enjoyable place to work and study.

The music year, though not a contest-winning one, was certainly progressive. Mr. Charles Spencer, the new teacher for both vocal and instrumental music, made several innovations in the music program. A large mixed choir, dressed in beautiful new robes, gave many concerts. The music boosters, who bought the robes, worked hard for the music department. Other music groups included band, girls and boys glee, and junior choir.

The boys really showed what they had this year under the direction of the three coaches. The basketball team won the county league crown, and entered district competition. The baseball team took the county league championship also. These victories, combined with an unusual intramural program, made the year one to remember. For the first time, a homecoming game was played, and a queen was crowned in a beautiful ceremony.

The Lobby Serves as a Focal Point of the School

The new, modern lobby links the high school and new elementary school. The lighting and brick planter enhance the beauty of the room.

The building, which was designed by Mr. Huber Buehrer, is a long, one-story structure. At the west end is a general purpose room. This is used for the elementary school gymnasium and as a meeting place for small groups.

The new office, board and faculty room, and health room open into the lobby. The new office area includes, for the first time, a private office for the superintendent.

The building was dedicated and open house was held on Sunday October 21, 1956. Dr. Walter Zaugg, professor emeritus of Bowling Green State University, gave the dedication address.

The Board of Education and the Faculty Share a New Room

The Board of Education and the faculty, for the first time, shared a beautiful lounge-meeting room in the new office area this year. The Board, shown above, met the second Monday of every month.

The Board members, clockwise from top, are Earl Weber, president; Mrs. Miriam Ray, clerk; Dale Beck, vice-president; Russell Gasche; Victor Rupp; Claude Rupp; and Supt. D. E. Springer.

Kindergarten Exchanges the Oldest for the Newest

The kindergarten left their old building and entered their room in the new elementary building this year. They had the largest classroom in the building. All the facilities, including the restroom, were keyed to the size of the pupils.

The kindergarteners helped to make the elementary school more attractive. They planted the colorful tulips, which are at the west end of the building.

In February the morning and afternoon groups invited their fathers to a circus party. Popcorn and pink lemonade were served for refreshments.

The kindergarten celebrated the Feast of Dolls, a Japanese holiday, by having a tea party for all their mothers. There were many dolls at the party. Rice krispy bars were served with tea.

CLOCKWISE, FROM TOP TO BOTTOM: Karen Roth, Kris Bernath, Steven Graffice, Bobby Mansfield, Marco Estrada, Donny Roker.

Under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Schroer and Mrs. Florence Lindley, the first graders started many new activities. Among them was learning to read and write. Many enjoyed writing stories for Pet Echoes.

New equipment added to the pleasantness of the school year as the children worked and played together. Besides a drinking fountain and a sink, each room had its own little restroom.

The first, second, and third graders gave an unusual Christmas operetta this year, entitled "A Christmas Fantasy." Mothers helped make this a success by making many costumes.

The pupils in Mrs. Schroer's class brought glass balls and icicles from home to brighten the evergreen bushes around the school at Christmas time.

The following pupils were absent when the pictures were taken: Verlen Rufenacht, Keith Miller, Sharon Hartman, Linda Augustine.

Mrs. Dorothy Holland, Connie Baer, Bobby First, Larry Yoder, Max Stuckey, Connie Nafziger, Bruce Short.

The second grade entered their new work this year with Mrs. Dorothy Holland and Miss Buetta Wyse as their teachers. The children enjoyed studying together especially using The Weekly Reader, a newspaper for children.

During their studies, supplementary projects were done, also. The students operated a small store, and learned to count money. Also, mail boxes were constructed during a study about post offices.

Decorating their rooms with the various seasons was another activity of the second graders. They liked to draw pictures. For one project they made shadow pictures. Interest was also created by a science table to which the pupils contributed.

Bruce Yoder, Julia Rodriguez, Jimmy Guerrero, Mary Louise Kauffman, Jimmy Grime.

FIRST ROW: Kathy Grieser, Joanne Roth, Kathleen Miller, Kenton Detter.
LAST ROW: Bobby Wagler, Charles Rychener, Jerry Nofziger.

The third grade, taught by Mrs. Helen Springer, was the only elementary grade that wasn't divided and consequently was the largest group in one room.

The 32 third graders enjoyed working on several projects this year. In the fall of the year they had a display table. In the spring they made kites. They also planted some seeds in their room.

The children enjoyed watching and caring for gold fish and snails in their room. They also studied about frogs and tadpoles.

Two pupils were absent when the pictures were taken. They are Roger Nafziger and Dean Schmucker.

Grade Four Enjoy All Activities

The fourth graders found many interesting things to do this year in their new attractive room. Miss Sadie Miller and Mrs. Hazel Brandeberry were the teachers of this class.

The boys and girls not only had new classrooms, but also had two new subjects which were geography and history.

Selling garden seeds was again the project of the fourth grade.

The class participated in a Thanksgiving operetta, "The Pilgrims' First Thanksgiving," on November 21. It showed the Pilgrims' preparation for the first Thanksgiving. The fifth and sixth grades also helped to give the operetta.

The fifth graders did much art work this year under the instruction of their teachers, Mrs. Mildred Rychener and Miss Alta Spiess.

This class sold pictures of Christ this year, as did the fourth grade. For prizes, they received Testaments or Bibles. Roger Price was high salesman, and received three Bibles.

The fifth graders also sold seeds. They helped the fourth and sixth grades give the operetta, "The Pilgrims' First Thanksgiving."

Miss Spiess's section, room 114, got a new globe in November. It is an inflated type.

The health nurse, Mrs. Emmajean Yingling, came regularly to the school to check pupils' eyes, ears, and growth. All examinations were held in the new health room.

New Teachers, New Rooms Mark Year for Grade Six

Sixteen pupils under the instruction of Miss Arleta Miller and eighteen taught by Mr. Daniel Fisher made up the sixth grade this year. Both teachers were new at Pettisville this year.

The class did a lot of map study. It was more fun this year because of the new maps. Activities weren't only work, but also gym activities that made school life exciting. They were taught how to do handsprings, backward rolls and to build pyramids.

One of the class projects was selling magazines. Clarence King was the highest salesman and Marlin Klopfenstein was the second highest in the sixth grade.

Mary and Adolph Avina were absent when the pictures were taken.

High School

Block Period Eases

This grade had a slight taste of high school as they entered the seventh grade. For the first time the seventh grade homeroom was on the first floor of the old building. The block period in the morning with Mrs. Thelma Rychener kept them in one room for a longer period of time.

Their first representative to Student Council was sent by the seventh graders this year. They helped to make decisions to keep the school running smoothly.

Also, for the first time this student group had a class sponsor. Mr. Lynn Brown held this position. Several members of the class had the new experience of holding class offices. They were Wendell Beck, president; Janette Rupp, vice-president; Margaret Short, secretary; Linda Frey, treasurer.

The seventh grade had the privilege of using new lockers, installed in the lower hall. They also had their own library in their room.

As a class project, the seventh grade shared in a magazine selling contest. James Huber received a watch for selling the second highest number of magazines.

Many of the students in grade seven helped the cooks in the cafeteria. Dishwashing, cleaning tables, and serving were jobs for boys as well as girls.

Grade Eight Is Versatile Group

The eighth grade was very active in sports, music, and class work this year. They proved that they could do all of these things well.

Again this year the pupils took the eighth grade state tests and had a very high percentage in the county. Thirty-five per cent of the students ranked among the upper fourth in the county. Linda Baer placed first; Rachel Porter, second; and Richard Wagler, third at Pettisville School.

Lynn Weber headed the class as president; Duane Rychener was vice-president; Sandra Gilson, secretary; and Marlene Beck, treasurer. Mr. Culvur Knollman was their sponsor. Prin. Mark Ray had the class in the afternoons during their block period.

Three eighth graders, Marlene Beck, Sharon Nofziger, and Rachel Porter, made up a trio. They sang at the senior play and spring concert.

The class participated in the magazine contest again this year. Sharon Miller received a record player for selling the most magazines.

Freshmen
End Junior High Career

The ninth graders have now completed junior high and are looking forward to high school.

Gustave Goertz headed the class as president; Susie Frey was vice-president; John Baer, secretary; and Allen Nofziger, treasurer. The class chose Mr. Leland Dorsey for sponsor.

Several ninth grade girls had the privilege of using a new sewing room. This room used to be the fourth grade class room. The girls had individual plastic trays in which their sewing materials were kept. A large new mirror, which was built in one of the side walls, was used for viewing their finished sewing work.

The sophomores began senior high school by taking part in many of the activities. Many sophomores were members of the senior choir, glee clubs, varsity and reserve basketball teams, baseball team, and newspaper staff.

The home economics classes worked in a completely new, modern kitchen. The sophomore girls studied cooking for a semester, and they used the kitchen two periods every day for that time.

Two sets of twins were members of the class. They were Joan and Jerry Windisch and Sandra and Bill Smith.

A French class was started this year, taught by Miss Ruth K. Wyse. Listening to French records in class was a part of the course.

The boys in vocational agriculture class tested soil as one of their projects.

The upper right picture gives evidence of the good meals served in the school cafeteria.

Biology class was interesting and fun for many of the sophomores as they dissected and drew diagrams of worms, frogs, and crayfish.

Several of the class members took the district scholarship tests at Bowling Green State University. Rhoda Nafziger placed seventeenth in the Bowling Green district in biology.

Joyce Roth and Joyce Rychener were absent when the pictures were taken.

Juniors Have One Year To Go

"Just one more year" seemed to be the theme of the juniors this year. Some were happy, some were sad, and some were indifferent.

The officers of the junior class were Shirley Murry, president; Daryl Rupp, vice-president; Rebecca Ruetz, secretary; Ronnie Beck, treasurer; and Lynwood Mininger, sergeant-at-arms.

Among the 38 members of the eleventh grade were two pairs of twins—Carolyn and Marilyn Zimmerman and Dean and Darrell Buehrer.

Several new courses were offered to the juniors this year. One of them was drivers' education taught by Mr. James Harris. This course was sponsored by the American Automobile Association. A 1957 Ford was supplied by the Archbold Sales and Service. Besides driving, the students studied texts and workbooks and worked on projects.

Physics was offered again this year. In a class of 14, 12 were juniors.

A quartet from the junior class was composed of Rebecca Ruetz, Gloria Eicher, Shirley Murry, and Rosemary Gearig. They sang several close harmony songs at the quartet rally and FFA banquet.

The juniors prepared the annual junior-senior banquet. A seashore was depicted on the wall to carry out the theme "Ebb Tide." The mural was drawn by Conchita Avina, the class artist. The supper was served by sophomores dressed as sailors.

Conchita Avina, Jim Miller, and LaRue Short were absent when these pictures were taken.

A group of 27 happy individuals finally accomplished what seemed the impossible—graduation. Baccalaureate was held on May 19, 1957, with the Rev Louis Haskell as speaker. Commencement was May 21. Mr. Barton Rees Pogue was the speaker at this event.

The five girls in the upper left picture on page 43 won the most coveted awards given to seniors at graduation. Suzie Beck received the citizenship award. This honor is given to the senior with the best all-around ability.

The other four girls were winners of the scholastic awards. In order to win this honor, a student must receive an average grade of B plus or higher in the four years of high school.

The class chose red and while for their colors and the red carnation for their flower. They picked as their motto, "Go, keep going, and help others to go."

GRADUATION AWARDS WINNERS: Suzie Beck, Janice Nafziger, Eloise Sauder, Louise Friesen, Eunice Frey.

The senior class officers, shown in the lobby of the school, were Mrs. Thelma Rychener, sponsor; Marlene Short, secretary; Evelyn Kauffman, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms; Eloise Sauder, vice-president; Lowell Nafziger, president.

This year the Future Homemakers of America tried new projects and new way of doing things.

The chapter mothers were Mrs. Royce Misener, Mrs. Paul Smith, and Mrs Orville Rupp. The officers were Eloise Sauder, president; Conchita Avina, vice president; Shirley Reynolds, secretary; and Joan Windisch, treasurer; and Mis Ellen Rakestraw, adviser.

F. F. A. Produces State Farmer

The FFA this past year took on a new project by renting the Central Mennonite Church farm north of Pettisville. They raised broilers, hogs, and eight acres of wheat. They also had one acre of corn on the George Meister land.

They entered the parliamentary procedure contest with an entirely new team except one member, and came out with a silver rating.

At the state convention this year the poultry team, consisting of Joe, John, and Curtis Baer placed tenth. This was the second year for a poultry team. One of the members of the team, Joe Baer, was State Star Poultry Producer and won a trip to Kansas City for a fact-finding conference.

Other judging teams were Richard Beck, Kenneth Nafziger, and Rodney Nofziger, who judged dairy cattle; Curtis Baer, Rodney Nofziger, and Kenneth Nafziger, general livestock; and Jerry Weber, sheep and wool.

A Parents-Teachers Association was organized th year, the first Parent-Teachers group at Pettisville Scho for many years. Although only two meetings were hel much interest was shown. The snapshot below was taken the second meeting, at which audio-visual aids were de onstrated.

Officers of the group are the Rev. Vincent Rup president; Dale Frey, first vice-president; Maurice Rup second vice-president; Mrs. Delmer Rupp, secretary; a Mrs. Roy Nofziger, treasurer.

A novel parents' visitation was introduced this ye on Friday, April 5.

Elementary classes were held as usual, with scho dismissing at 2 p.m. High school was held in the evenin with the parents attending regular classes. School start at 3 p.m. and was over at 8:10 p.m. Supper was served the cafeteria.

The school administration was pleased with t visitation, as there were many favorable comments.

Future Teachers, Parents and Teachers Organize

The Beuchat and Dimke Future Teachers of America club got into full swing this year, although it was started in the school year of 1955-56. The club was named in honor of Miss Cora Beuchat and Miss Flora Dimke. Both women taught at Pettisville for many years.

Mr. Leland Dorsey was sponsor of the group. The organization adopted a constitution. Meetings were held regularly. They were planned so that every other one would be a program, and the other a business meeting.

Panel discussions, in which faculty members participated, were held at two meetings. The teachers discussed various aspects of teaching.

The club, under the direction of Lowell Nofziger, held its meetings in a relazed, informal atmosphere. The other officers were Joe Baer, vice-president; Suzie Beck, secretary; and Janice Nofziger, treasurer.

The FTA sponsored a bake sale before Christmas. For the December meeting, members of the club met in the school cafeteria to make cookies, candy, and cakes to sell.

During two weeks in November and December, elementary school visitation was held. Parents attended regular sessions of school. The FTA members were baby sitters for pre-school children.

Faculty and Students United

The Student Council, an organization which permits the students a voice in the government of the school, was responsible for several innovations this year.

This group established and set up the rules for the Board of Publications. It also brought up and put into action the idea of a homecoming game and the crowning of a homecoming queen.

The council enlarged the intramural sports program by adding vollyball to the list of activities. Each class had two teams and three games were played each noon. The other intramural sports it sponsored were basketball, softball, and ping-pong.

Besides all this the organization sponsored two feature movies, collected money for the March of Dimes, and held bi-weekly meetings.

by Student Council

As can be seen here, Supt. D. E. Springer was a good person to visit to receive advice on Student Council problems. And by the expression on these students' faces, they seemingly have a big problem. Pet Echoes Spreads the News

Barbara Nafziger, Suzie Beck, Elizabeth Disbrow, Janice Nafziger, Miss Ruth K. Wyse, adviser.

The Pet Echoes staff worked diligently all year to get the school newspaper distributed every Tuesday afternoon. The paper keeps the school and community informed about all school events.

Janice Nafziger served as editor-in-chief this year and checked all the copy for the paper. Suzie Beck was associate editor. She was in charge of the different jobs to be done in getting out the paper. Tom Rychener served as business manager, handling all bills and money. The class members took turns serving as the editor of the paper.

Two new electric IBM typewriters were bought by the class at the beginning of the school year. They are shown in the picture in the lower left-hand corner.

The 1957 Lariat is the last yearbook to be published by a senior class. In the future it will be a school project under the newly organized Board of Publications.

A staff of all girls had the big job of publishing this year's Lariat. Many hours were spent in organizing, writing copy, taking pictures and then putting the book together. The girls are shown here examining some pictures to be used in the book. They are Eloise Sauder, associate editor; Eunice Frey, business manager; Evelyn Kauffman, associate business manager; Miss Ruth K. Wyse, adviser; Janice Nafziger, editor.

Last Senior Yearbook Staff Serves; New Board Takes Control

A new organization, the Board of Publications, was launched this year under the sponsorship of the Student Council.

This group chooses the Lariat staff, determines policy, and signs the contract for the printing of the book.

Two faculty members serve on the staff, in addition to the adviser of publications, Miss Ruth K. Wyse. The teachers each serve for a year, with a new one being appointed each semester. Mr. Culvur Knollman replaced Prin. Mark Ray at mid-term.

. . . And Office Girls Ease Duties

Answering the telephone, typing letters, and running errands were only some of the items included in the office girls' daily duties. The second year typing girls were each required to spend one period in the office in addition to their regular class period.

Mrs. Miriam Ray was their supervisor, Michael Andrews went after and sorted the mail, and Dorothy Miller announced lunch time.

Photographers Organize

The photography club is shown here in their usual environment. This new club was started toward the end of the year. Mr. Lynn Brown and Mr. Culvur Knollman were the instructors. Gregory Rupp was president, Allen Rupp, vice-president; Michael Andrews, secretary; Dean Buehrer, treasurer; and David McBride, sergeant-at-arms.

Taking, developing, enlarging, and printing pictures were their main activities. The club is working to achieve the goal of taking many of the Lariat pictures in the future years. A new press camera was purchased for this department as a gift from the class of 1956.

Checking books in and out and caring for the library were jobs of the librarians again this year. Rachel Nafziger was head librarian and had the task of supervising the work and collecting book fines.

The bookmenders are seen in the lower left-hand pictures mending books. They are Jennie Henschen, Joyce Roth, and Joyce Rychener. It was their job to keep the books in usable condition.

Workers Fill Important Posts

The school employees did a fine job this year of preparing the meals, keepin the building clean, and transporting the students to and from school.

Marilyn Wyse, a last year's graduate, joined the cafeteria staff this yea Miss Marie Drennan was again head cook. These workers had the privilege o using a new dishwasher, and they also used the new automatic washer and drye in the home economics department to wash and dry their towels.

Because of additional rooms and increased space to be taken care of, ther were more custodians. The new custodian was William Lantz Jr., and those wh had done this work before were Mr. and Mrs. William Lantz and Mr. Dwight Porte

Since the majority of the pupils came to school on the bus, a crew of eigh buses and drivers was required to bring the rural students to and from schoo each day. Because of crowded conditions on the buses, one of the drivers had t travel his route twice each morning and evening. One new bus was purchased th year which was driven by the Rev. Vincent M. The Choir Appears in Robes This Year for the First Tim

The senior choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Spencer received an excellent rating at the district music contest which was held at Napoleon elementary school.

The selected number for the chorus was "Lo, a Voice To Heaven Sounding." The required number was "We Sing Thy Praise."

The Fayette band gave a program to the high school and in exchange the Pettisville choir gave a concert for Fayette during the year. The group also sang at the dedication of the new elementary building, the spring concert, commencement, and at the Wauseon Evangelical Mennonite Church.

Sharon Nofziger, in the upper right hand corner, accompanied the choir at all their rehearsals and performances. She is in the eighth grade.

Five soloists entered the solo and ensemble contest which was held at Bowling Green State University. Greg Rupp for his cornet solo and Sharon Nofziger for her piano solo received a two rating.

Those receiving a three rating were Suzie Beck, clarinet solo; Susie Frey, piano solo; and Shirley Murry, vocal solo.

The choir took on a new look this year in their new robes. The officers are shown adjusting their robes, which were purchased by the music boosters. Joe Baer was president; Lowell Nofziger, vice-president; Evelyn Kauffman, secretary-treasurer; Shirley Murry, librarian; Virgil Miller, assistant librarian.

Because these two music groups were so very small this year, neither of them entered the music contest.

The girls, in addition to singing, learned some of the rudiments of music.

The boys glee appeared at the spring concert.

Singing in the junior choir is a big step in preparing these students as senior choir members of the future. The choir, made up of 70 voices from grades 7, 8, and 9, practiced once each week and they sang several songs at the spring concert.

PHS Crowns First Homecoming Queen

For the first time in the history of Pettisville School, a homecoming game was played and a queen was crowned. Conchita Avina, a junior, had the honor of being the first queen at Pettisville.

The homecoming game was played with Ridgeville on Saturday evening, February 9. The queen was crowned between the varsity and reserve games. The game was a thrilling one, with the score tied at the end. In the three-minute overtime, Pettisville out-scored Ridgeville 6 to 4, to win. The final score was 58 to 56. The photograph below shows a jump shot in the game.

The Blackbird reserves won also, by a score of 45 to 29.

Lowell Nofziger was master of ceremonies at this event. All former varsity basketball players and their wives were honored guests.

Blackbirds Win County Crown

After twelve years of trying, the boys, under Coach James Harris, finally won the Fulton County championship this season. The team defeated Metamora to win this honor. Winning this game put the boys into district play. They played the first game with Deshler, who beat the local team by four points.

The team won over Pettisville's old rival, Archbold, twice this year. This was the first time in ten years PHS had defeated them.

Joe Rychener was chosen captain of the all-county team, by vote of the Fulton County coaches. Lowell Schultz was also made a member of this team. Tom Rychener, the only sophomore on the all-county squads, was placed on the second team.

FIRST ROW: Jan Weber, Robert Robson, Jim Miller, Bill Smith, Allen Rupp, David McBride.

Reserves Have Good Season

The athletic booster club, made up of cheerleaders and students from grades seven through twelve, stood behind the basketball teams. They made favors, sold refreshments, and decorated the gym for home games. They bought a new corn popper this year. Officers of the group are Janet Schmucker, president; Conchita Avina, vice-president; and Barbara Nofziger, secretary-treasurer.

The junior high basketball team, shown below, received much experience this year. Mr. Daniel Fisher was the coach of the boys.

The junior high games were usually played right after school, starting at 4 o'clock. This was planned to eliminate many transportation problems.

The team lost its first county tournament game to Delta this year, by a score of 21—15.

The cheerleaders, at the left, were chosen by the junior high school. These girls led cheers at the seventh and eighth grade games, also.

Mr. Leland Dorsey acted as coach for the seventh and eighth grade teams. The eighth grade is shown above, and the seventh at the right.

These teams sometimes combined to play other schools. Quite often, however, they played separately.

The teams played for experience, and received much to help them next year.

Intramural Program For All-

Eleven Win County League Honors

The Blackbirds clinched the Fulton County league baseball championship this year by defeating the Fayette Eagles, 5—3.

Milan Pfund, not on picture, was an outstanding player and pitched many of the games.

Mr. Leland Dorsey, who coached the group of eighteen boys, and Manager Lynwood Mininger helped to make this a very successful year for the team.

Provides Student Participation

Much enthusiasm was shown in the intramural sports program which the Student Council planned. An unusual number of students participated in the sports.

Again this year an intramural basketball tournament was held in the evening. The senior boys and junior girls, shown at the right, won the tournament.

Lowell Nofziger and Daryl Nofziger won the mixed doubles, Virgil Miller won the boys singles and Sharon Nofziger, grade 8, won the girls singles in the intramural ping-pong tournament.

Volleyball and softball were also played, but no tournament was held for either of the sports.
